THIRTY-THIRD YEAR NO. 12.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 18, 1910

PRICE $1.00 A YEAR.

WEDDING WAS BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

A pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooley when their eldest daughter, Edna M., was married to Mr. Raymond Bull at six o'clock.

The ceremony was witnessed by about eighty invited guests and was performed by Rev. Joseph Kyle of Xenia.

The young couple appeared unattended, the ceremony being performed before a bank of palms and ferns. After the services a three course supper was served. At the bride's table were seated: Mr. and Mrs. Bull, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bull, Harry Ferguson, Miss May Ferguson, Martha Cooley, sister of the bride and Mr. Foster McMillan.

The bride's table was beautifully decorated with carnations and ropes of smilax, which were festooned from the ceiling to the four corners of the table. The favors were pink and white place cards. The decorations throughout the house were carnations and ferns.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white chiffonette, trimmed with dainty lace. Her bouquet was sweet peas and ferns tied with tulle. The bride also wore orange blossoms in her hair being the gift of Mrs. G. E. Jobe, who is spending the winter in Florida.

The happy couple have gone to housekeeping on the McGuffey farm out from Xenia. Both are exceedingly popular and have a host of friends that wish them joy and happiness in their new life.

POLITICIANS AND THINGS POLITICAL.

It is singular the position that the newspapers are taking in Jesse Taylor's campaign. The paid matter that Taylor is carrying would lead the ordinary reader to believe that the paper stood sponsor for what Taylor had to say. To offset this the majority of the publishers have marked the Taylor matter "advertisement" and the public is allowed to weigh the statements for what they are worth. The Xenia Republican, Yellow Springs News and Osborn Local, all followed the Herald's example in marking the Taylor matter as paid.

The public seems to realize what a "fizzle" Greene County has had in the state legislature in Representative Lewis and candidates are now coming to the front. When Lewis voted for the Pleasant Morgan telephone trust bill last week the climax was reached. The telephone patrons not only in this county but all over the state have arisen and are demanding that the Senate kill this bill and not allow it to become a law. The last named person to be connected with the race for state representative is Arthur W. Humphrey, from Yellow Springs, son of Dr. Humphrey, for many years a druggist in that village. Miami township is probably the strongest when it comes to Republican votes of any in the county and with Mr. Humphrey a candidate the chances for Lewis will be small.

President Taft has withdrawn the nomination of John Mulford of Lebanon as postmaster in that place. Last August Mulford's name was sent to the Senate Committee. Each senator of this state had endorsed Mulford as Census Supervisor for the Sixth district and the unexpected action of the President caused considerable comment. Mulford has been connected with a financial deal in the sale of stocks that is said to have been used against him and moved the President to take steps in withdrawing the nomination.

We announce the name of Mr. W. B. McCallister as a candidate for county auditor before the coming primary for his second term.

We are authorized to announce the name of William F. Orr as a candidate for prosecuting attorney subject to the coming primary election.

We are authorized to announce the name of W. B. McCallister as a candidate for Sheriff, subject to the Republican primary.

We are authorized to announce the name of Mr. Frank L. Johnson as a candidate for prosecuting attorney, subject to the Republican primary.

We are authorized to announce the name of Orville R. Smith as a candidate for State Representative before the Republican primary election on May 17.

BREEDERS ATTENTION.

The draft horse market was never as strong as it is now. The Percheron never enjoyed such popularity with the city buyer, and no one disputes his being the best farm horse produced. Bred in a Percheron deep in the blood, able to produce the true Percheron type. Mutter, the Imported Percheron has proven a sure breeder his first year over the sea and is now ready for service. Jeff Hood, an experienced and careful caretaker is in charge.

News About The Courts.

Anna B. Bell in her petition for divorce from George Bell, to whom she was married, April 10 1905, charges cruelty and failure to provide. H. C. Armstrong, attorney, Blanche Starkey has brought suit against D. B. Bell, to have a deed to property in Bowersville reformed so that it conveys a title in fee simple. She also brings suit against Helen Klesley to have the deed to property in Jamestown reformed in the same manner. A mistake on the part of the scrivener who drew up the deed is set forth. W. L. Miller, attorney.

A motion to remove Estella Holt as guardian of Susan Gaines, on the grounds that Miss Gaines has been restored to her reason, has been filed by Attorney Marcus Shoup. It was set for hearing March 18th. Miss Gaines has not been formally discharged from the Dayton State Hospital, but is away from that institution on a visit.

Charles McPeck has brought suit against the Cincinnati, Dayton and Hamilton Railroad Company for $30 damages because of injuries to his team of horses sustained when they were struck by a locomotive of the defendant company at the Bellbrook avenue crossing of the railroad last August 31. He says one horse had to be killed, and the other was permanently injured. Negligence on the part of the defendant company in not signaling, or having a watchman at the crossing is charged. R. L. Gowdy, attorney.

You can make old furniture harmonize with new surroundings by applying one coat of Campbell's Varnish Stain. These stains are transparent and impart a fine color and finish without obscuring the grain of the wood. Any inexperienced person can use them. Apply to G. M. Crouse for color card.

An affidavit was sworn out Wednesday by D. S. Egan before L. G. Bull as Justice of Peace, for Ellis McMillan, colored, for obtaining money under false pretences.

TELEPHONE PATRONS ALL AROUSED.

Since the passage of the Elson telephone merger bill by the House of Representatives last week, at which time Greene county's representative, J. R. Lewis, voted with the telephone trust, the patrons have learned the magnitude of the bill and find that the public has not only been betrayed but that a gigantic corporation will reach into the pocket of every patron for increased rentals and fees for long distance messages.

All forms of excuses are being offered as to why the house passed this bill by a vote of 50 to 59. The members are being criticised from all sides and scarcely a day passes but that something new leaks out as to how the "lobby" of the trust "convinced" enough members that such a bill should pass.

The various excuses have only led a suspicious public to believe that the Morgan millions were not all left at home. A limited amount of expense money was no doubt provided the "lobby". The members that voted in a whisper, and were ashamed to look up when the roll was called, evidently "regretted" that the public must know just how they voted. The mental anguish was nothing compared to the joy of an overflowing purse.

The censure from the public has been the cause of a probe being started in the House of Representatives in that one member has stated that the telephone lobby used corrupt means to secure enough votes to pass the bill.

Democratic Floor leader, Judge Cyrus B. Winters, made the declaration that he was called to a room in a Columbus office building and urged to support the bill and that he could "have" anything he wanted. The Judge voted against the bill and latter exposed what the lobby had attempted to do with him.

THEATRE NOTES.

Henry W. Savage's sensational operetta, "The Love Cure," will come to the Fairbanks Theatre, Springfield, Tuesday, March 23. It is easily the great musical hit of the season. While originally Viennese, there has been an American bop prepared by the humorist Oliver Herford, and all the haunting melodies, and exquisite music of Edmund Eysler have been preserved. As is his custom, Mr. Savage has not spared expense in the production of "The Love Cure," and the company will come here exactly as appearing in New York. The immense scenic effects have not been altered in the least. Elgie Bowen and Charles J. Ross head the cast. Fred Fear and Harry Hyde of the original "Merry Widow" company, Craig Campbell, Alice Rosmer, Thomas J. Walsh, Milton Pollock, John Allen, Harry Child and an immense chorus, and the special "Love Cure" orchestra of grand opera proportions will all make the coming of the beautiful "musical romance of stageland" the event of the season.

The Lucy Lee Concert Company is an unusual company. Any audience may look forward with pleasure to the time when this company shall appear. Tuesday evening, March 22.

GREAT STEAMING RADII.

The North Dakota Can Travel 9,000 Miles Without Recalling.

The people of the United States recently, and it is safe to say somewhat to the surprise of a large number of them, found themselves at the top of the list in naval matters in a fresh respect. They discovered that so far as battleships are concerned they had done just what Great Britain did in commercial vessels when the two great gunnards came out. They had captured from the world the battleship records at one sweep.

In the ships, the North Dakota and the Delaware, America has two unequalled war vessels. Of the two the trial trips seem to indicate that the North Dakota leads. So marked are her accomplishments in some particulars that she has been declared to be in a class by herself.

Equipped with turbine engines of American design and construction, a detail in which alone she differs from her sister ship, which is fitted with reciprocating engines, the North Dakota broke the speed record for battleships and demonstrated that she has a greater steaming radius than any other. The dispatches indicate that when steaming at 12 knots an hour she can travel 9,000 miles, or nearly three-quarters the distance from New York to San Francisco by way of the Magellan strait, without recalling.

19 knots an hour she can travel approximately 4,000 miles without refueling her bunkers, while she could reach the European coast when traveling at her maximum average speed of 21½ knots, a speed exceeded by only eight transatlantic liners.

This vast steaming radius is due to her modest coal consumption in proportion to the horsepower produced and made effective in the turbine engines. According to the figures given out by the builders, on her trial trip she burned less coal at the speeds of 12 and 16 knots an hour and on the maximum speed developed more horsepower and made a higher speed than did the Delaware. The fastest run over a measured mile for the North Dakota was at the rate of 22½ knots an hour, while the Delaware's best speed was 21½ knots. The average speed was 21½ knots for the former and 21½ knots for the latter 21½.

The full power trial horsepower developed was 31,400 for the North Dakota and 29,000 for the Delaware. The North Dakota's record was slightly and unexpectedly surpassed by the smaller British battleship Vanguard of the Dreadnought type. In the course of her eight hour trial she attained a speed of 22.4 knots.

In offensive and defensive details the North Dakota and her sister ship are the superiors of any other fighting ships afloat. They carry ten twelve-inch guns in five turrets besides four secondary batteries of twelve guns of the one and three pounder types. The twelve inch guns throw projectiles weighing 870 pounds each, for the purpose of powder being behind them it is estimated that the guns can throw these shells a distance of twelve miles and force them through a steel plate eleven inches thick at a distance of five miles.

The United States will not be behind in the race if other nations launch vessels the equal of the North Dakota, for the Arkansas, the Florida and the Utah, now on the ways, will be greater by 1,000 tons displacement—New York Tribune.

Not Guilty.
A very dignified and precise lady who lives in a suburb of Boston went away from home on a fortnight's visit to some relatives not long ago. After her return she was making an inspection of her house and came across a number of large, black, empty bottles in a corner of the cellar, partly covered with ashes. When, at the conclusion of her visit, her husband came back from Boston, she met him at the door with the query, "Jim, where did all those empty bottles down cellar come from?"

Affecting an air of puzzled surprise, the honest man replied: "I'm sure I don't know, my dear. I never bought an empty bottle in my life."

True Nobleness.
"For this true nobleness I seek in vain. In woman and in man I find it not; I almost weary of my earthly lot. My life springs are dried up with burning pain."

Thou findst it not? I pray thee look again. Look inward through the depths of thine own soul. How is it with thee? Art thou sound and whole? Doth harrow search show thee no earthly stain? Be noble, and the nobleness that lies In other men, sleeping, but never dead, Will rise in majesty to meet thine own. Then wilt thou see it gleam in many eyes. Then wilt thou light up and thy path be shed. And thou wilt never more be sad and lone. —Lowell.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of J. C. Ayer & Co.

The loss to the cattle raising interests of the country from tick fever is placed at $40,000,000, the malady being confined to a few southern states and being directly due to a little blood-sucking tick about an eighth of an inch long which in the process of extracting the blood of the animal attacked injects into its circulatory system a virulent microbe which feeds upon the red blood-cells and destroys them, thus producing the disease known as tick fever. The federal authorities are doing all in their power to reduce the losses from the disease having found the fever can be eradicated if the tick causing it can be destroyed, and it is this phase of the campaign which is at present occupying their energies.

New York state has lately come into possession of a wild game farm in the village of Sherburne, in the Chemung valley, the English pheasant being the variety at present raised. The preserve contains 800 acres, five of which have been in use the past season, enclosed with poultry netting nine feet high, with additional line mesh netting at the bottom and extending seven inches into the ground as protection against minks, rats, skunks etc. For the first six or seven weeks the little birds are kept in yards 10 by 30 feet. One wing is then clipped and they are allowed to roam in the larger tract. The hen pheasant lays about thirty eggs in her wild state and sixty in confinement. The eggs require twenty-eight days' incubation, and the job is turned over to docile old Biddies, who cover a clutch of from twenty to thirty eggs. Partridges of the American type are to be raised next year in addition to the pheasants. The manager of the farm says the pheasant is more easily raised than the common domestic fowl and requires little care after it is three weeks old. Pheasants are insectivorous birds, almost entirely subsisting on weeds, worms, ants and other insects and being especially fond of the potato beetle. It costs but 50 cents a year to keep a pair of them, while mature birds fetch from $2 to $3 per pair on the market, and a trio of prime birds will bring from $5 to $9 for breeding purposes.
